

We Are Weavers, by Jon Madian

we are weavers
woven into and fromÂ
an ancient ever renewing fabric
on an invisible loom
more subtle than breath

at one turnÂ
we pull
to add to our own design to sing each life's most important song
i am, i belong

in another turnÂ
we pushÂ
to etch the themesÂ
built into pyramid, cathedral and telescope, all designed to searchÂ the mystery of hope & will Â

each of us, if our life is blessed,
leaves sufficient yarn
for the next generation to pick up the many living threads whose origins are beyondÂ the pure geometry of stars and with bone and marrow shuttle Â we leave the foundation for those who will weave the fabric of tomorrow Â